

CONCLUSIONS

I realize that, in many passages, I could not help but write in the first person...

This does not at all mean that this little guide is the fruit of my work alone.

I wrote the text, and many other people collaborated.

I cannot here mention the more than fifty people who are part of the CAMMINANDO INSIEME group and who always welcome my proposals for a journey with enthusiasm, also listening with patience to my stories of anecdotes and my botched "big explanations".

So I just want to thank:

Silvia Bartoletti for geological consultancy

Giovanni Becherucci, Maurizio Crecchi, Maurizio Lippi, Francesca Talamucci and Maria

Check for photographs

Maria Cristina Ciriello, Mavi Mainoli and Francesca Talamucci for proofreading

Franco Giannellini for the layout

Stefano Pettorali for advice on mapping techniques and photographs

Giuseppe Verani for historical advice

And again all of them, together with Antonio Baragona, Stefania Bossi, Marcella Ceccarelli, Teresa Scognamiglio, and Claudio Traini for having accompanied me in the last inspections.

And, of course, all of them for not giving me peace until I wrote. Finally I must say that there are also four-legged friends who often accompany us: Max,

Mia, Phil, Piripicchio.... But the most assiduous and faithful of all is our mascot, who accompanies us, protects us and pampers us: thanks Spino!

But the most important things for which I always have to thank are the friendship and affection I found in this wonderful group of people.

Maria Cercignani